Village of Grayslake recognized for its commitment to solar power

Grayslake. The Village of Grayslake recently earned the highly coveted SolSmart Bronze designation, furthering Grayslake's commitment to solar power growth in the community. Funded by the United States Department of Energy's SunShot Initiative, SolSmart recognizes local governments who take key steps to reduce barriers to solar energy growth and makes it easier for homes and businesses to go solar.

Mayor Rhett Taylor commented, "We continue our sustainability efforts as included in our plan. This SolSmart designation is the latest example of Grayslake being recognized for its sustainability efforts."

Grayslake received this designation by creating an online checklist that provides residents with the resources they need when completing a solar project, conducting an internal review of permitting processes and examining fees related to solar installations.
